1976 HIGHLANDER

Caught the Spirit! If ever a Highlander caught the spirit, senior class president, Keith Rahn, did after his class won the spirit stick during the Anderson pep session.

Scotland the Brave . . . the spirit stick . . . the mascots . . . Spirit . . . a common thing among Highlanders in the '76 school year. Spirit seemed to come a little easier for Highlanders this year as the athletic teams produced frequent winning seasons, prom was allowed after the threat of cancellation, and the new building was nearing completion.

"I Care About Highland" was one spirit raising source with a goal to spread spirit through the halls, and show the faculty and administration that the student body did care about the school's image and individual self pride. Highlanders finished the year having . . . caught the spirit.

Right: We Believe! As the state fair track awaited the Marching Highlanders, Divina Westerfield executes the sword dance as a good-luck omen.

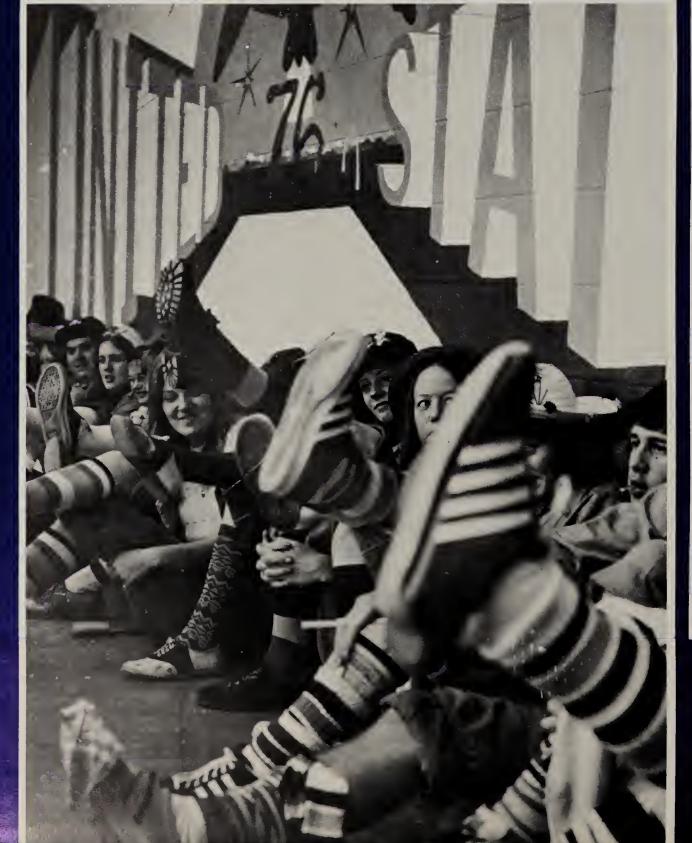

Above: Contributions for a victory come not only from the floor but also from the sidelines as Lora Stephens shouts encouragement to volleyball teammates. Above right: We're number one! Highland's Pep Club leads the rest of the student body in the chant as Highland claims the position of city champs after defeating Madison Heights and Anderson.

Catching the good 'ole'

Left: Show me you spirit. Seniors in Mrs. Norris' 4th hour psychology class pose before a full-wall bicentennial mural on the day of the Anderson basketball game.

Spirit caught on like wildfire from coast to coast. Citizens from all races, religions, and creeds were up and celebrating our countries 200th birthday.

Reminders of the bicentennial could be seen throughout the halls and rooms of Highland. Murals in the library and room 18 portrayed the spirit of '76; the business department sported red, white, and blue typewriter covers; and, the News Bureau established a penny press portraying that of 200 years ago.

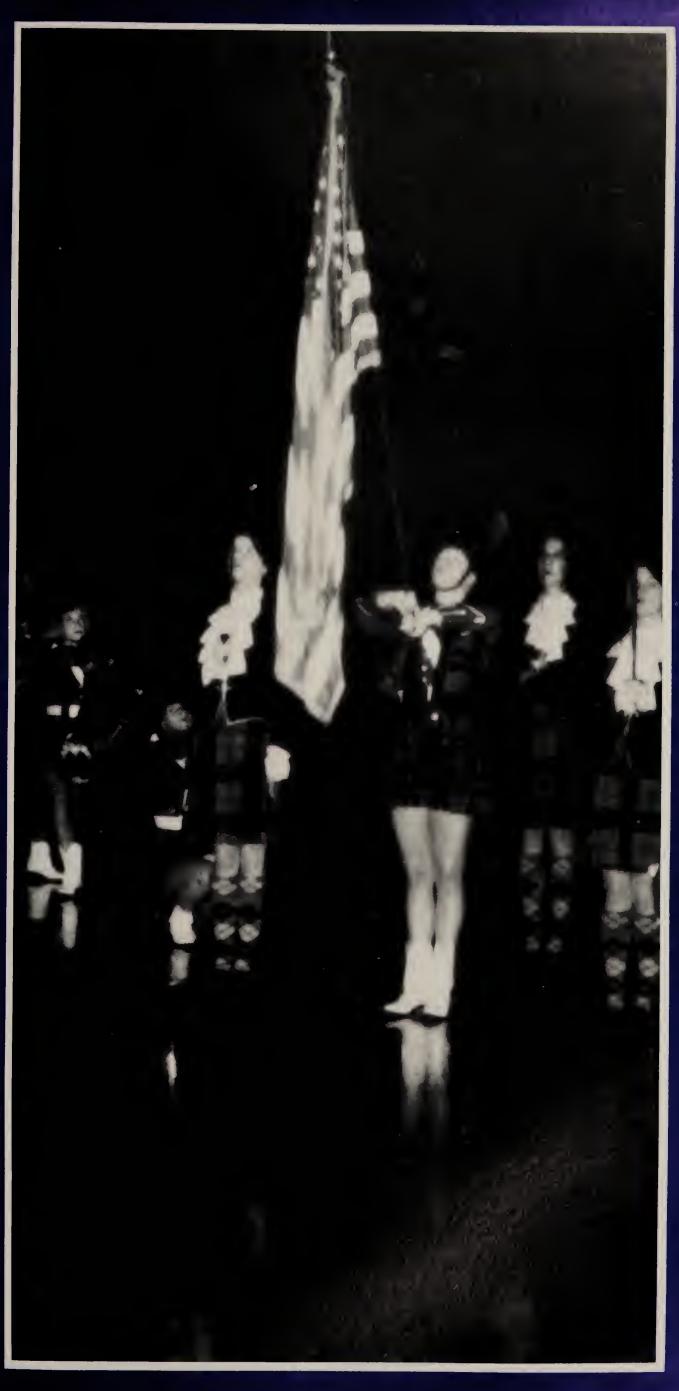

Mayor Robert Rock and the City of Anderson scheduled events throughout the year including an all-city music festival featuring the best city high school musicians that tipped off Anderson's activities on February 1st.

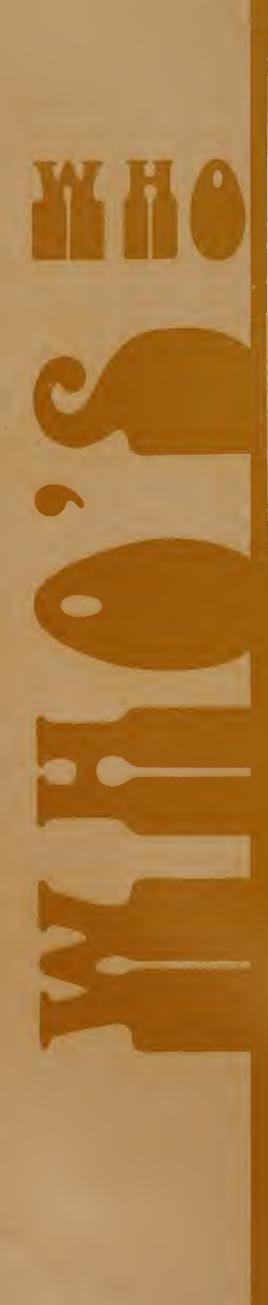

Spirit literally traveled coast to coast when the "Freedom Train" started on its journey from one coast to another. A bicentennial commission was also set up by the government to assist states, towns, and schools in their quest to ... Catch the spirit.

Below: What started as a salute to seniors by Martha Croxton, ended as a challenge for a grade if she could keep still for an hour.

Right: A solemn salute to the United State's flag by Highland's majorettes creates a pause to honor the flag before the excitement of a basketball game.

Streaming through the halls day in and day out was the lifeline of Highland High School—the students. Without them nothing could have happened as it did: there would have been no classes, no band, no basketball team, and consequently no school.

From senior to 7th grader, superinvolved to uninvolved, all were needed to complete the student body. The student body who laughed together, cried together, socialized together, and learned together seemed to have its own personality, although individually the personalities were the building blocks of Highlander spirit. Highlanders striving to catch the spirit, were the very essense of Highlander life.

Seniors battle through frustration

Seniors battled through a frustrating year. School hadn't begun before frustration started as the Marching Highlanders finished a respectable but disappointing tenth place in the state fair band contest. Frustration also was present the first day of school when the Seniors noticed that the school was under mass construction which created a dusty, breezy and somewhat chaotic atmosphere; along with the construction was a feeling of "a year too late" for the class of 1976. Confusion continued with homecoming which had five senior queen candidates instead of the traditional four. Homecoming also gave the Seniors a sense of frustration by handing them a third place finish in the float contest and a loss in the game. Dances was a point of contention when they were temporarily cancelled due to some bad experiences at the dance held after the seniors' last home football game.

But, of course, all was not lost as individuals and the class as a whole experienced positive changes and achievement. During the summer, members of the class had the first opportunity to select from senior environmental pictures. At the other end of the year on June 3, 1976, the graduation ceremony took place on the football field, while the class sat in a red, white, and blue configuration of "76."

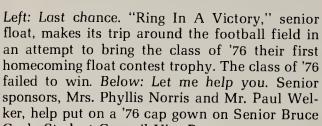

Mary Worden graduated first in the class of 240 and Tracie Sloan ranked second. The Seniors were also led throughout the year by Keith Rahn, president and his staff which included: Kevin Smith, vice president; Lynn Ashton, secretary; Jill Hughel, treasurer; Lisa Pinegar and Debbie West, girl. S.C. representatives; Dan Joyce and Rodney Walford, boy S.C. representatives.

Mrs. Norris, permanent senior sponsor, counseled the class of '76 through their graduation; her sixth graduation ceremony as a senior sponsor. Mr. Paul Welker, who watched the Class of '76 grow as students for four years, helped the class graduate into new opportunities.

Above: I've got spirit. Jill Hughel, senior class treasurer, shows the "dress-up" of spirit the seniors had during "Redskin Revenge Weekend." The Scots with the help of the seniors' spirit went on and gained revenge.

Prom in jeopardy

Dances at HHS were temporarily cancelled following the events at the last home football celebration soc hop (see related story on pages 96-97). Would this include the Junior Prom as well? Nobody seemed to know for sure until Jan. 29, when Junior Class President Scott Jackson gave the results of the Student Activity Committee meeting—Prom was on!

This announcement seemed to give new impetus to the effort put forth by the usually limited few who sold magazine subscriptions to raise money for the prom and graduation. Even though the campaign started off slowly, a two week extension provided the needed time for the juniors to surpass the $5,000 goal by $700.

Another temporary setback for the juniors came when the junior class float, "Movin' on to a Victory!", finished last in float competition. The class of '77 has finished in last place every year. Susan Brumfield represented the class as junior homecoming princess.

On the other hand, junior class spirit was high during basketball season. As tourney time drew near, the east hall was filled with streamers, signs and balloons. The junior girls presented skits at the sectional and regional pep sessions and the class received the spirit stick and a certificate for the best hall decorations at the semi-state pep sessions.

The class of '77 was sponsored by Ms. Peggy Richards and Mr. William Warfield.

Sophomores feel part of Highland with Float

The "Scot's Express" was the major factor in the sophomore winning float, "Track 'em Down." The winning float made the class of '78 happy and proud, and gave them a sense of belonging, according to various class members. Also, representing the sophomore class at homecoming was Teresa Quick who won the title of Sophomore Homecoming Princess.

Besides homecoming the sophomores were busy picking class colors (light blue and a regular blue), receiving class rings, and ordering class jackets. All of these activities were done during the first three months of school. During the rest of the school year the class of '78 kept occupied with school work and showing school spirit.

Bob Jackson, class president, led the class with the help of their sponsors, Mr. Andy Roby and Ms. Bonnie Herron. The officers other than Bob included Wendy Kuchler, vice president, Wendy Moore, secretary, and Letty Robinson, treasurer. Sue Dickey, Jana Hanson, Gary Lawrence and Steve Williams served as Student Council representatives.

Freshmen enter world of senior high

Entering high school was a big step for the class of '79. For the first time they were able to choose their classes, occupy a down-stairs locker and participate in high school activities and organizations.

Making their debut in the homecoming float contest, the freshmen effort "Sock it toe 'em!", placed a very respectable second. Sheila Hummel represented the class as freshman homecoming princess.

Near the end of the year, the frosh ordered their class rings. They were able to choose from a variety of newly designed rings.

Last year for junior high at HHS

The classes of '80 and '81 were the last to attend junior high at HHS. Eighth graders anticipated going on to high school as seventh graders warily awaited moving to one of the city's other junior high schools.

Junior high students were given the opportunity to participate in various high school activities. They were allowed to attend dances, join pep club and participate in sectional activities along with the high school.

Tradition remained as junior high students continued to eat "A" lunch hour. Tradition was broken as seventh and eighth graders filled the entire upper south side of the gymnasium at pep sessions and convocations.

After 21 years, the junior high will no longer remain. With it go the privileges enjoyed by the students of the HHS junior high as they move out to accommodate a growing high school population.

Right: What's so funny? Junior high students take time to chat in the lunchroom. Below: Not again. Seventh graders diligently work on basic skills tests that will be taken again twice before they graduate from high school.

Dr. Gallagher brings about changes

Dr. Harold B. Gallagher served his first year as superintendent of the Anderson Community Schools. A good portion of his activity during the year, centered around the proposed 6-2-4 system for all Anderson schools to begin in 1976-77. Related issues on busing, boundaries and curriculum kept school board members and the central administration busy, as preparations for the new 6-2-4 system developed with reports submitted by various sub-committees.

New to the Anderson Community Schools were Mr. William O'Neal, Administration Assistant, and Mr. Robert Stinson, Dr. Gallagher's replacement as Assistant Superintendent in charge of Elementary Education. New to the job, but not the system was Miss Doris Noel who acquired the position of Director of Personnel.

Coordinating plans for the new addition, new curriculum and a new high school system gave added dimension to the responsibility of Highland's local administrators. Specifically, HHS top officials also paved the way for preparing students and staff for the upcoming changes.

In the guidance department students and faculty conformed to a newly adopted system for seeking guidance, as well as accepting an old face in a new position with Mr. L.H. Gilliam, language arts teacher assuming his responsibilities as a guidance counselor. This brought the number of counselors to four.

The students and faculty also found a change in the procedures for securing permission to have an activity. The newly found Student Activity Committee was the channel used to coordinate and evaluate all student activities. The Student Activity Committee consisted of Mr. Allen Meyerrose, chairman, Mr. John Boyer, Mr. Randy Greene, Mr. Lilburn Gilliam, Mrs. Mary Lawler, Mrs. Darlene Warfield, Miss Julie Polus, Mrs. Teddy Fatta, Dan Joyce, Rodney Walford, and Scott Jackson. According to Mr. Meyerrose, the committee had its flaws, but it relieved pressure from a single individual having to make the decisions.

Faculty kept busy with preparations for improvement

North Central Evaluation, 6-2-4 system, and the building of the new addition were three of the major topics involving the faculty and staff during the '75-'76 school year.

Socially, the highlight seemed to be the marriage of Miss Mikella Kaiser and Mr. Steve Davis prior to the beginning of school, bringing the total number of Davis' on staff to four.

Affecting the staff as a whole were the issues and answers wrapped around the workings of the North Central Evaluation, and expansion created by the proposed 6-2-4 plan and the new addition to the building. A self-study seemed ill-timed for North Central Evaluation purposes during the '75-'76 school year, when the visiting team would appear when Highland would be just a four year high school with expanded curriculum and facilities. Coupled with this issue was the concern regarding what teachers would be at HHS after the removal of the junior high sections.

Heading the N.C.A. evaluation steering committee was Mr. Larry Forrest, I.C.E. coordinator. According to Mr. Forrest the evaluation is a once every seven year happening that is good and useful for the school and teachers. The importance of getting a good evaluation is most beneficial to the students, because a good evaluation means a better chance for future education and employment of their choice.

Highland High, a place for college students

Every-once-in-a-while a student will be in class and look up and see the teacher and say, "Am I in the right room?" Yes, that student was, no doubt in the right room but the teacher was a new student teacher.

Once again Highland was a place for student teachers, 10 in all. Newcomers to the teaching profession doing their final preparation before becoming a working teacher that receives pay. Student teachers frequently feared this time of college, but it always seemed to be bearable, helpful and sometimes even fun.

Below right: Four of the ten Highland student teachers, Cindi King, Karen Watson, Darlene Hampson, and Marlene McLaughlin, step through the doors of HHS and the professional field of teaching. School personnel changes routine School personnel played a very important part in the everyday occurances at HHS. These noteworthy people had new things to become accustomed to.

The cooks faced a new cafeteria arrangement and new cash registers. This caused confusion at the beginning, but things soon smoothed out for satisfying and well-balanced meals with efficiency. Custodians were faced with "little messes" created by construction, but managed to face each day with a smile, and kept HHS clean and safe. Construction of the new addition blocked the north drive where the twenty-three busses parked last year for loading. After adjusting for route location, student drivers, and the two new threeway stops at the "corner," soon made transportation a routine. The secretaries and clerks found new changes, also. The secretaries were confronted with new students and preparation for the 6-2-4 system. Mrs. Jordan in the bookstore dealt with new rental books and new forms to fill out.

Some school personnel found basically the same routine this year. Liason officer Tom Hay's duties did not change greatly. Officer Hay still counseled his friends, (students) on the subject of law. Mrs. Anne Hull, the nurse of HHS, again found her duties to include assistance with headaches to broken bones and a case of appendicitis.

Above: Shown in his office at Highland, Officer Tom Hay is in the Anderson Laison Program at Highland, two junior highs, and twelve grade schools. Police Officer Tom Hay has provided exhibits, speakers, and films for the students.

Studying occupies Highlanders time

Catching the spirit of study wasn't always easy! Highlanders found themselves confronted with term projects, exams, and pop-quizzes which all demanded time, whether their goal was merely to pass or to exceed the requirements for excellence.

Excellence in any field however, was a difficult plateau to reach; practicing, studying, and rehearsals were all important to any student striving for a high grade point average which was the symbol of excellence. For some, though, getting straight A's was the least of their worries as graduation was their only goal in high school.

Highlanders made studying enjoyable using their own unique style, whether it was playing tricks on teachers to get a laugh from their fellow students or trying to get away with something behind the teachers back. But no matter how they accomplished it, Highlanders "Caught the Spirit" and didn't let it go.

Monsters, comics invade math wing

A view from the back. Math class wouldn't be complete without a chalkboard cluttered with problems, bent heads concentrating on homework, and a teacher at the front, willing to help Above: Taking time out to grade some papers, Mr. Kane, a new teacher at HHS is becoming familiar with his busy schedule.

Strange and unusual animals have been abundant through the history of the HHS science departments and this year was no exception. HHS alumnus Steve Smith presented the biology department with a live tarantula that he acquired in Arizona and brought to Highland in September.

The annual dissection of fetal pigs in advanced biology classes produced an "Oh what icky memories!" from senior Pam Riffle when the dissections and tests were over. Fetal pig dissection was a requirement in this class and pigs were furnished by the school. Other dissections that took place in the biology department included grasshoppers, crayfish, worms, and internal organs from various kinds of animals.

Something not publicized much in the math department was the "computer," which was bought two years ago but has been used on a limited basis in special classes. Under the supervision of Mr. Fox and Mr. Jack, the classes exposed to the computer were—Calculus, Trigonometry, and Analysis. These three classes ranged in size from three to twelve students in number.

All math classes received new textbooks; however, the most obvious change were the seventh and eighth grade books. Illustrations depicting monsters, and comical characters in these books were used as a way to "... keep the kids interested in math," stated Mr. Steve Davis.

Above: Dissecting a fetal pig can be very touchy business as Becky Clay, left, and Tony Atwell learn. Dissecting a fetal pig is a major project for first semester Advanced Biology classes. Equipment such as scales, beakers and calculators are very handy in this class, as Robert finds out.

Students receive work experience

Once again, 47 HHS students participated in the Anderson Area Vocational School programs first semester, along with students from 13 other area schools. Participation was in such fields as graphic arts, electricity, metal working and auto body. These students learned their trades and skills in a class-laboratory situation for half a day at the AVS facilities on West 38th Street and then attended regular classes at HHS for the remainder of the day.

In several of the programs "real" jobs, on a limited basis, provided actual experience. A restaurant, "The Zodiac," was designed by students for this class. It is a regular restaurant and anyone may go in for a meal. In previous years the building trades class built a house and put it on the market. Anyone who was interested could look, or even purchase, the house.

Other vocational programs included I.C.E. (Interdisciplinary Cooperative Education), A.C.E. (Agribusiness Cooperative Education) and O.W.E. (Occupational Work Experience). These programs were designed to provide students with the skills necessary for their particular fields of interest.

Student rips off HHS bookstore

The Highland bookstore was robbed on January 6; or, at least it appeared that way according to the evidence presented at the mock trial conducted in Mrs. Norris' government classes. For the past seven years mock trials have been conducted by Mrs. Norris, including such events as the murder of Mr. Brown, English department head; the bookstore robbery; and other mock trial situations.

Other government class activities included the annual mock elections with the use of voting machines, and income tax preparations.

Also maintained on the same basic yearly format, the psychology classes engaged in memory exercises, including the paper and walk-through mazes plus the game of "Trust." The classes also brought in children ranging in age from 16 months to five years old to see how the children would react to strange surroundings. Reactions, of course, were varied as expected: from very shy to very outgoing.

Putting their social studies knowledge to test, seventh and eighth graders had the opportunity to participate in "The Greatest American President Contest," sponsored by WHUT and Anderson Banking Company. Receiving honorable mention were Laura Moore (7), Susan Campbell (8), Trena Hooper (8), Brian Weston (7), Roger Hill (8), Tom Davis (8), and Gena Kidd (7). To be a contestant in this contest, the students had to write an essay on their favorite president.

Judo and archery added to P.E. course

During the past few years, physical education classes consisted of softball, volleyball, baseball and other sports. Some new activities were added to the course last year including judo and archery units. Mrs. Barbara Gentry instructed seventh and eighth graders and freshmen in these classes. For the more progressive students of gymnastics and modern dance, these portions of the course have been advanced.

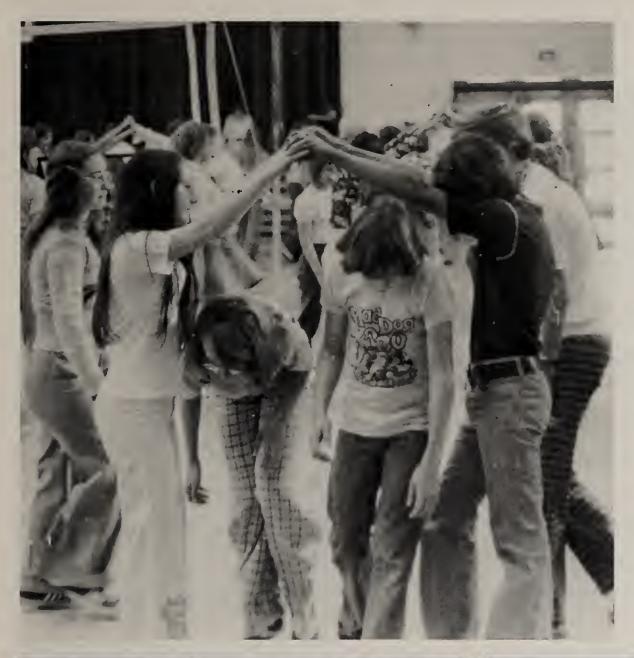

Bones, nerves, arteries and veins are some of the things seventh and eighth graders, and sophomores are studying in their classes in health. In the sophomore classes they showed film strips on marriage and dating.

Starting last year the seventh and eighth graders split their year between a full semester of health and a semester of P.E. Ninth graders attend P.E. classes for the entire school year while sophomores attend health classes.

Independent research and more study time in class was emphasized this year in the Language Arts area. The Honors English class used this method very extensively, as Mr. Ron Brown, head of the English Department and Honors class instructor, stated, "This is partially due to the fact that this year we know more of what to expect because last year was an introduction to the class and new to everyone."

This was the second year for Honors English and also the return of the Biblical Literature class taught by Mr. L.H. Gilliam. Mr. Gilliam stated that this year enough people wanted the class so it was reinstated.

Business faculty undergoes turnovers

New faces were abundant this year, not only within the student body, but also in the ranks of the faculty. Mrs. Bozell, Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Sumner were replaced by Miss Rockwell, Mrs. Wheat and Mrs. Howell, respectively. Mrs. Bozell and Mrs. Jordan returned to their jobs at the beginning of second semester while Mrs. Sumner extended her leave for the rest of the school year.

The Business Department offers classes in clerical practice, accounting, shorthand, typing and general business. Clerical practice prepares students for an office job following graduation by providing actual experience with different machines. Students become familiar with the adding machine, the mimeograph, the calculator, the spirit duplicator, the executive typewriter and the dictaphone.

Personal touch added to 'arty' rings

Making clay was one unexpected experience gained by art students this year. Art instructor, Mrs. Peggy Richards, explained that a new powder clay was purchased that was mixed automatically by a machine that can produce approximately 100 lbs. an hour. This machine was to be part of the new art department in the HHS addition, but since the addition wasn't completed this year there was no way to mix the clay except by hand. Using this process, approximately 25 lbs. an hour could by mixed.

Along with learning how to mix clay the art students also worked with macrame, balsa wood sculptures, copper bracelets and block printing. The students also worked at making sterling silver rings. Some of the better rings were priced in value from $20 to $50. Although very few people were willing to part with their rings for money, some did use their rings as gifts, which included a very personal touch since they were hand-made. These were not the only rings made during the year. Using the Lost Wax process students were able to mold their own rings.

Inflation continued to run rampet through the kitchens of HHS. Rising food prices brought attention to basic home cooking and food substitutions were taught. How to cut down a recipe, knowing what kinds of substitutions could be made and how money could be made to go farther were emphasized in Home Economics classes.

Needlework classes, in their second year, grew in student interest although none of the students were boys. At the other end of the spectrum, Home Entertaining, offered second semester, in 1975, was not offered this year due to lack of interest. However, to make up for this loss, the Needlework Class was expanded to a full year.

Majorettes practice in hallways

Upon returning to school after facing a disappointing tenth at State Fair, the band joined their counterparts—the vocalists—in the classrooms in preparation for another year of instruction, performances, and contests.

But more disappointment was in store, when the majorette corps became "homeless" due to crowded conditions. As a result the girls moved into the halls, and stage area, with time allotted at the end of the hour for practice on the gym floor. They still maintained their full academic credit status, however.

In the vocal section of the music department a patriotic spirit influenced the songs performed by the junior and senior high choirs along with the Highland Singers. The selection of the music by Mr. Greene was sometimes influenced by student input concerning some of the more popular songs the students desired to perform. To enhance the new music, a new electric piano was bought by the music department.

Women's Lib invades areas of HHS

Women's Lib invaded yet another area of HHS. Agribusiness, more commonly referred to as Agriculture, was infiltrated by two HHS women again this year.

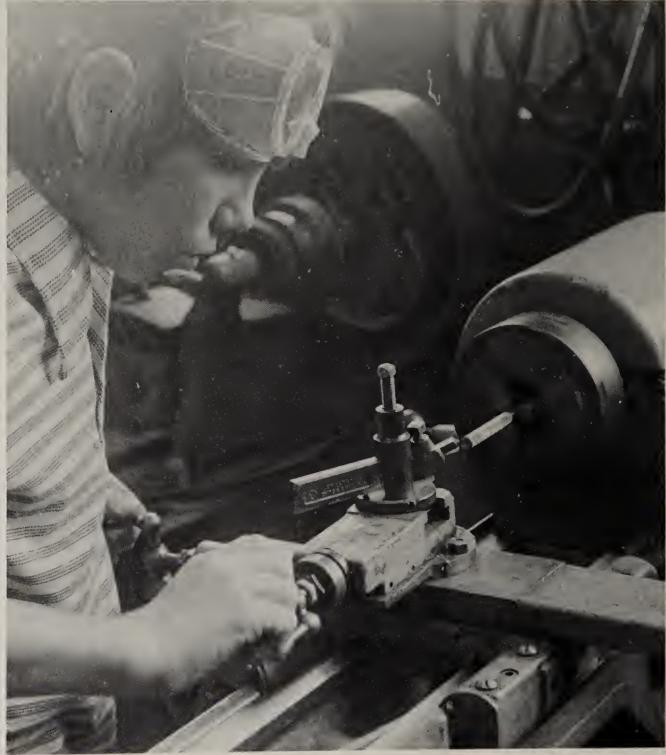

Anne Eliason was the only girl out of twenty-eight students in the high school class and Cheryl Jester was the only girl of the fifteen students in the Agribusiness Cooperative Education (A.C.E.). This is compared with two in the high school class and one in A.C.E. in 1974-75.

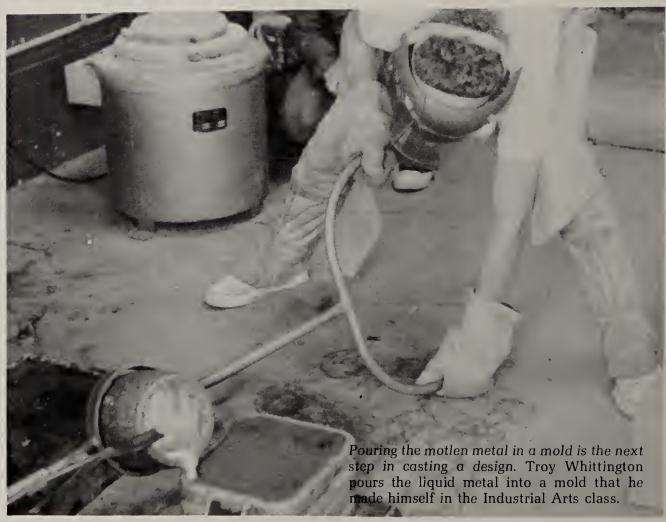

Actual farming experience along with livestock and soil judging was incorporated in Agriculture. But as the formal name "Agribusiness" says, the business or economic side of farming was also taught. This included the examining and purchasing of farm equipment as well as types of buildings that work best for this area.

This year it was possible for two classes to be held at one time in the large Industrial Arts room. A new dividing wall was built to separate the area into a work room and a classroom, which also provides an area for the Power Transportation class to work on their small engines.

Time-off varies for Highlanders

Visiting friends ... watching TV ... or just sitting around, were some of the activities Highlanders used to spend their Time-off. But, time-off for some meant activity away from the classroom ... hours of practice in music, cheerleading, and sports ... meeting deadlines, rehearsal schedules, meeting dates, and job responsibilities. Socially, Highlanders attended fall festival, drama plays, musical presentations, athletic events, and open house. Highlanders, however, were set back on dances but "caught the spirit" for the 1976 prom.

No more pencils, no more books

Summer "75" started with a bang! With summer school starting on June 2, many students only witnessed a weekend of being away from pencils and books. Some of their summer would go to learning driving and typing skills. Some students chose to take courses at Anderson High school that weren't offered during Highland's summer sessions.

The freshmen were also beginning their marching practice on June 2, but the full band didn't begin practice until June 23. The band members' summer would then be filled with practicing maneuvers for State Fair Day on August 20.

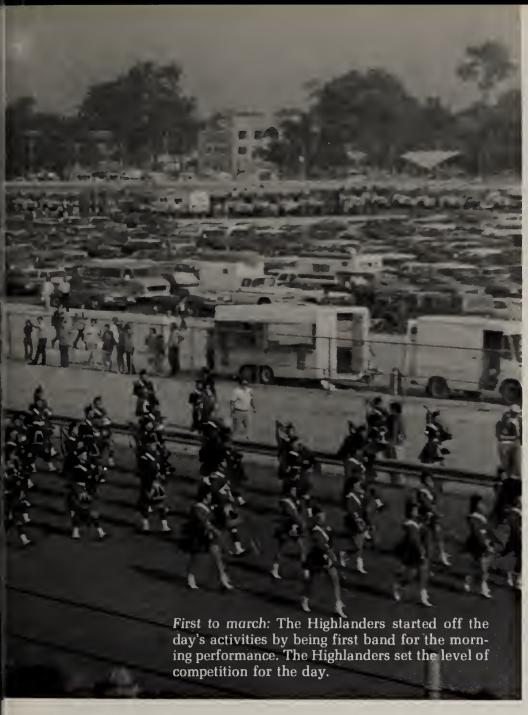

Summer also helped students increase their bank account or add to spending money. Familiar faces will be remembered such as, Nancy Duncan at the hotdog stand, and Bev Moore at the super market.

While every students' summer activities may not have been fun there was always an errand to run or studying for summer school.

Before students knew it the time for school had arrived and it was back to those pencils and books.

Rain moves annual Fall Festival inside HHS

The long awaited event for many Highlanders was the annual Fall Festival and Homecoming game. Friday evening Sept. 19, was the scheduled date for the 1975 Fall Festival, however, on Friday the entire city of Anderson woke to the sound of rain dancing on their roofs continuing far into the afternoon and evening hours. Rumors had it that all of the scheduled events were called off. Near the end of school, however, it was announced that all activities were on, with one major change: All activities were to be inside instead of outside as planned. During the soc hop in the multi-purpose room small booths and stands were set up in the halls sporting such activities as an egg throw, cake walk, and tennis ball throw, while other organizations concentrated on catering to the hungry Highlanders with mouth watering snacks,

On a cold, but sunny Saturday, Sept. 20, spectators saw a 1975 Homecoming Parade come to life. There were the usual class floats, princesses, attendants and queens. Princesses were Sheila Hummel, Freshman, Theresa Quick, Sophomore, and Susan Brumfield, Junior. The Senior representatives were: Chris Blake, Kathy Brown, Kelly Oliver, Lisa Pinegar, and Vicki Stanley. During half-time ceremonies, Lisa Pinegar was crowned 1975 Homecoming Queen, while the Sophomore's float entitled "Track Em Down" won first place honors in the parade competition. Even though the scot fans backed the team whole heartedly the Scots fell in defeat to the Elwood Panthers, 0-6.

Not just another Fall Play?

News stories labeled "Scapino" as "Not just another fall play." Mr. Ron Clark, drama teacher, stated that, "I was skeptical at first." Every move and action, according to Mr. Clark, had to be very precise so that there wouldn't be any disabling injuries. Mr. Clark went on to say that the play was very demanding physically and required a lot more work. "You just can't throw a play like this together in the last few rehearsals. "Scapino" was harder than any other play that has ever been presented at HHS. The cast would soon find this out and finally the play was a reality.

"Scapino" was an experience as the publicity said it would be. During the evenings of Nov. 5, 6, 7, 8, in the three-year-old Studio Theater the thirteen member cast made "Scapino" a true life character. Many times during the play there was singing of the song, Minestrone Macarone, while at the same time a plate was being thrown across the stage with some of the spaghetti accidentally landing in a few peoples laps during one performance. A chase scene added excitement to the show as three actors raced through the aisle and hall with one actor swinging a sausage over his head. Then there was the swim in the Bay of Naples. This was accomplished by two actors, John Pichler and Mark Jones "Swimming" across the floor on their stomachs. Then there was the part that the audience seemed to like best: Junior Joel Edgeman portrayed several different characters; he was a whole army all the way down to a Chinese man who knew karate.

This seemed to be a real crowd pleaser. When asked if he thought the play was a success, Mr. Clark found it hard to say words that would let everyone know how pleased he was.

Many times Mr. Clark has been assisted by a student director but this time he did it by himself mainly because nobody asked. He said "In a way I found it good not to have a student director because I found myself getting more involved."

Below: Zerbinetta (Beth Hollon) and Giacinta (Marlena Pierce) tell Scapino (Joel Edgeman) they love to hear how he cons people, and they want him to tell them a story.

Student's actions jeopardize dances at HHS;

At the Christmas dance in 1974, a few Highland students (the exact number was unknown) reportedly were drinking alcoholic beverages, smoking cigarettes and causing damage to the extent that Student Council paid a $125 bill at the Senior Citizens Center. As a result, Student Council issued a warning to the student body that dances might be eliminated from Highland's social scene.

The 1975 prom was the test. Held in the Highland gym, a closely supervised prom went off without a hitch—with a few minor exceptions. Dances, apparently, were in the good graces of those in authority as a result of the prom. Summer of '75 passed and in the fall of the 1975-76 school year a homecoming dance was held with only a few reported problems. However, on October 10, all illusions created at previous dances were broken. Drinking, drugs, sex and disrespect to sponsors apparently highlighted the evening.

On Monday morning students from all areas of social life were feeling the aftermath of the weekend. It all came to a head when, with great urgency, the student activity committee temporarily cancelled all dances indefinitely.

In response to the situation, Student Council came up with the idea of promoting concern for HHS by encouraging students and faculty to wear buttons that read "I care about Highland." The buttons, according to Council, symbolized that people cared about Highland's extra-curricular activities as well as conduct during school hours. Along with the 700 buttons distributed, the president of each class talked to the students about behaviour, and what the students could do in making it possible to have a prom along with other dances at HHS.

A meeting held in the privacy of the loft on January 29, 1976, at 1:00 p.m. determined the fate of the 1976 prom. At 3:00 p.m., prom was on-providing all rules and regulations were followed. Major provisions in the newly adopted rules included: 1) Six sets of chaperones instead of the usual three; 2) Music was to be provided by high school groups; 3) uniform policemen were to be stationed inside; 4) proper lighting was to occur during dances. Highlanders were anxious, for the most part, to get back into the "swing." Prom was their chance. Tradition was to prevail. The cost was great and the learning experience was real.

SCOTS PREPARE

What's the word? Victory, Sectional, Regional, Semi-State. This was just one of the many cheers that backed the Highland Scots on to many first-time victories for the school. The Scots went into tourney action ranked No. 2 in the state. Going into Sectional week the city of Anderson was not too optimistic about the fate of the Scots. Yet the fans of HHS never lost hope. The Scots played Alexandria, Anderson, and Madison Heights. The games were rough, but the Scots proudly claimed HHS's first Sectional Victory. The Scots then won the Anderson Regional. Semi-State action, however, brought an end to the '75-'76 basketball season, as the defending champs the Marion Giants won 59-57 and then proceeded to take the 1976 State Championship Title for the second straight year.

Through all of the tourney action the Scots gave to the school the wide athletic recognition that was so long in coming. At last HHS seemed to be a name known over the State thanks to a small group of Scots and a devoted coaching staff.

SHOWSTOPPENS

Plaid and White Revue had a few new attractions for the audience in 1976. The additions were to make the show more professional looking and enjoyable.

Chaser lights were put around the stage and the Plaid Panther also "did his thing" on April 2 and 3. Other than these two major differences everything else in the eighteenth annual variety show remained the same.

The band, pipe and drum corp played while being accompanied by the majorettes on eight numbers. Also in the show there were skits and jokes which added humor to the overall effect.

Kevin Gossett and Marlena Pierce were chosen for this year's Master and Mistress of Ceremonies. Marlena and Kevin are both junior band members and play the french horn and saxophone, respectively.

Many songs this year that the band played had bicentennial flavor. There was the traditional closing which had a special meaning because it is the bicentennial year.

With mixed emotions this closed the revue for another year but next year there will be a whole new routine.

LONGEST NOTE ALMOST HELD

Familiar melodies mixed with new sounds filled the HHS gym May 6-7. "Musicale," in all its lighted spendor, once again gave the audience a variety of musical interpretations.

After the introductory music, competition was held between Joel Hobbs and Tammy Dunson, HHS alumni, to determine who could hold the longest musical note in the world—well, almost anyway. Another skit was performed with Sam Roberts, WHBU sports announcer who surprisingly was drenched with water when Junior Rick Lantz spit into an enlarging machine. This skit made reference to the varsity basketball season. Other highlights of the two-night musical included a square dance, barber shop quartets, and Mr. Greene's son, singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

Special numbers by the Highland Singers included songs such as "Games People Play," "A Morning After," and a guitar duet from Ernie Chappel and Henry Connelly.

Musical '76 was brought to a close with Mr. Greene and the choir singing "I Write the Songs", and "This Land is Your Land."

On May 10, third hour, seventh and eighth graders filed in the gym to be seated, and anxiously awaited for the final Miss Heather crowning in Highland's history. As a result of redistricting in the Anderson Community Schools Highland's junior high was scheduled to seek further education at Eastside junior high, leaving Highland a four year high school.

During the one-hour convocation Robin VanNess was crowned by the 1975 "Miss Heather," Cathy Hensley. Robin's court consisted of eighth graders Robin Johnson, Julie Parker and seventh graders Lori Green and Lori Grider. The '76 "Miss Heather" and her court was gifted with a charm bracelet, and flowers from the Highland Yearbook staff.

"Ghost Dance" chosen as Bicentennial Play

"Ghost Dance" was the title of the Spring play presented by the Drama Dept. One of the main criteria for the play was the bicentennial, something "American". What could be more genuinely American than the Indian.

"Ghost Dance" took place at an Indian burial site on an open hilltop South Dakota during the 1890's. The play was really about human ecology. One saw the tragic pillage of our natural resources. One also saw the Indian people wasted by the Army's guns. "The Ghost Dance" was a dream of peace—all the Indians had left. Sitting Bull tried to keep them alive with that dream but the army's guns shattered it forever.

The cast and crew considered working on "Ghost Dance" to be both a challenge and an education. Cast members had uncomprising enthusiasm and dedication, two essentials for success, and the play was very successful. According to Mr. Clark, director, the play went surprising well. "Ghost Dance" 'Sold Out' on two of the three nights it was presented to an open audience.

Summer Breeze is a reality

After the Juniors encountered problems concerning the 1976 Prom, they came through in the end and planning for Prom was underway.

For the second year in a row the Prom was held in the gymnasium of Highland High School. With tables in the gym and adjoining halls there was plenty of room for people to be seated or dance depending on what they wanted to do.

The couples were greeted by the theme "Summer Breeze." This was carried out by hanging butterflies, a ceiling with clouds, and walls with wooded scenes. In one corner of the gym was a gazebo with plants and a fountain for everyone's enjoyment. At 9:30 p.m. Kim Richardson was crowned by 1975 prom queen, Brenda Brauner, and was to reign over "Summer Breeze" for the rest of the evening. Kim's court consisted of Theresa Mroz, Kathy Hester, and Bev Moore.

TITE BEBR

Before the Seniors knew it they were no longer students of Highland High School, but they were alumni. Senior activities and practice for graduation kept them busy until each had received his or her diploma.

June 3, was the day that approximately 250 students would graduate and say goodbye to high school life.

Mary Worden and Tracie Sloan led the class of '76 as they were valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively. Each gave speeches at graduation along with guest speaker, Rev. Harold Clark.

This year graduation was held on the football field and tickets were needed to be admitted. For the bicentennial year the gowns were red, white and blue and was to form a white 76 with reds and blues surrounding it.

Mini-conference: talking too much

Parents, patrons, students and a sprinkling of graduates came to visit HHS Nov. 17 for the annual open house. From 6-8 p.m. parents, along with students, waited to be introduced to teachers, bringing a few students to the conclusion that "home" would have been a much better place to be. After the initial introductory trauma, however, students realized that Open House wasn't such a bad scene after all.

There were, of course, those students whose grades or conduct warranted an unpleasant conversation between teachers and parents. Interviews with students on the subject of teacher-parent talks indicated that the average bad news was that students talk too much.

No major changes in the traditional open house format took place. Displays, demonstrations and "mini" parent-teacher conferences were again followed by a musical program in the gym, including the Concert band and HHS Singers. In earlier years, however, an introduction of the Varsity Basketball team was a major highlight.

NEW STEEL BEAW - WIAMA

While the 1975-76 school year was in full swing a new dimension was being added to the physical structure of HHS. Seven new science labs, and two classrooms; four art rooms; four home economics rooms; and, a new multi-purpose area were scheduled for use in the fall of 1976.

After many months of decision making on the design of each new section by the administration, department heads, and architects the revised structure was underway in June of 1975.

Original plans called for a ten room math wing in addition to the final eighteen room addition that lay to the north of the existing sixty room building. Prior to this latest addition to the Highland facility, two other additions had been added: One in 1964, which included the original, multi-purpose room, music department, and eleven classrooms; and in 1972, which was the eighth room math wing on the west side of the building.

Locker room talks became an important aspect for many of the Scot teams in preparing to face their opponent. Right: Break that tie! Regional wrestler Jay Masters tries to get the "advantage" to score that extra point that might mean a victory.

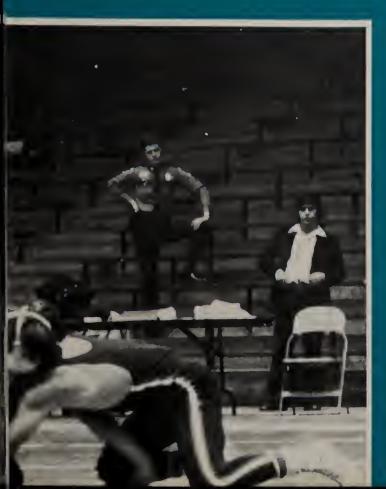

If spirit was evident in any facet of Highlander life it was in HHS sports. Sectional victories . . . a sight unseen in Highland sports until the girls gymnastics team walked away with a victory in 1975 ... were popping up everywhere. Beginning the year with a "bang" was the Varsity Cross Country team huffing and puffing to a 29-1 mark and the first varsity boys regional qualification. The varsity basketball team, not to be outdone, then streaked to a 20-0 record going into sectional as one of the only two undefeated teams in the state. Alexandria, Anderson, and Madison Hts. watched in awe as the undefeated Scots romped to their first sectional victory in 21 tries, and advanced to the Regional to "Bump" Blackford and Carmel from the 66th state tournament.

Victory, jubilation, and celebration were not always the order of the day however, as some disappointment was experienced in the athletic department. The varsity football team, for instance, had to overcome numerous barriers only to finish with an upsetting 2-8 record. Also winning the beginning level in 1975, the girls gymnastics team returned only to fail in defending their title while the girls golf team and boys gymnastics team both had bad luck as they finished with more in the loss column than in the win.

Win, lose, or draw HHS athletes continued ... catching the spirit ... which indicated that in 1975-76 Highland High School could be defeated but never beat.

"10-4"

Mental attitude, tremendous help

"The girls had great potential. We had as good a chance as anybody to win the sectional," stated Ms. Barbara Gentry who coached the girls' volleyball team to a 10-4 record.

Spiking and serving were the major emphasis during the early morning practice sessions. Coach Gentry also included other offensive and defensive maneuvers as well to put the girls in competitive form.

In addition to the physical aspects of volleyball she also added that, "The girls cared about each other which helped their mental attitude tremendously."

The Most Valuable Player for the varsity volleyball team this season was senior, Vicki Stanley. The qualities considered by the members of the team who voted were leadership, playing, ability, enthusiasm, and attitude.

BROKEN BONES

Bad luck plague breaks-up Scots

Three major areas led the varsity football team to a not-so-successful season. Prior to ending the season with a final record of 2-8 the Scots had fought the injury plague, faced disciplinary problems, and suffered ineligibility.

The first symptom of the injury plague came during the Jamboree when Jeff Jamerson broke his collarbone. From that point the plague spread through a total of eight major injuries, which included a broken arm for team captain and quarterback Brian Dunham, and ended with a broken collarbone for Gary Crouse in the Shenandoah game near the end of the season.

The second major problem confronting the team was the disciplinary action taken against approximately 10 players when their disorderly conduct at the post-game dance of the Mount Vernon game forced their suspension for one game.

Ineligibility, the third major problem came after the season was closed when it became apparent that a team member had not enrolled in the proper number of classes for IHSAA regulations. This brought about the forfeiture of two games, changing the record from 4-6 to 2-8. Reflecting on the season, Coach Murr stated that injuries kept the Scots from a winning season.

7th and 8th each grab city title

Winning ran rampant through the seventh grade Scots' season as they landed a 4-2 record along with winning the City Championship. Coach Beane stated that his team had tremendous ability but lacked the size for using it. He also said that in the future these boys will be "tough"! Going hand-in-hand with the seventh grade, the eighth grade Scots had an outstanding year as they finished with a new school record of 7-1. For their drive and determination a second city championship was awarded to this team of eighth graders, who were also city champs as a seventh grade team.

A good attitude and strong effort was put forth by the Freshman Scots, according to assistant coach Doug Holder. That combination apparently wasn't enough as the frosh ended the season with a 2-5-1 record. Coach Holder went on to say that his team did better on the field than the record shows, as several games were lost in the last quarter. Only once out of eight tries did the young Scots get shut out. Other games ranged from the two victories, a 6-6 tie and a 17 point loss to North Side. The ninth graders also had their own shut out against Madison Heights, 14-0.

Highland "right on time" for Regional

Faster over all times than any previous cross-country team at Highland kept the Scots undefeated until their clash with the "City Champs," Madison Heights Pirates. A 9-1 season record, included winning the Yorktown Invitational and becoming the first men's athletic team at Highland to place in sectional and go to the regional.

Coach Steve Davis, in his first year as head coach, proudly commented on his team, "In my five years of coaching, this group of boys was by far the most enthusiastic. These young men have started something in cross-country that hopefully will become a tradition at Highland—winning!"

Highland swept the first five places seven times in their nine duel meets of the season with Brian Sanders' best time of the season against Delta when he set a new school record at 12 min. 56 sec. for the two mile run. Brian was awarded the "Most Valuable Runner" trophy by his teammates for the second year in a row.

All conference David Watkins and team captain Marty Swafford paced the remainder of the Scots team behind Brian who was also an all-conference pick.

The reserves had less luck though as they finished seventh in the Yorktown Invitational and with an 0-5 overall mark.

In this year's regular season play, the Scot's varsity basketball team received seven first places, giving them city, state, and nation-wide recognition.

To start the ball rolling was an unbelievable first "city championship" in which the Scots defeated both Madison Hts. and Anderson. The spirit grew as the Scots went on to battle two more tough teams, Frankton and Pendleton in the WRC. As the season continued the Scots couldn't be beat and were given a second place rating by AP polls in the state, another first for HHS. After the final game in the regular season against Elwood, the Scots pulled in two more firsts with a 20-0 record and the third consecutive WRC League Championship.

When all the teams' scores were tallied up state wide, the Scots were awarded the number one defense in the state.

Nation-wide recognition also came when the Scots earned the number one free throw percentage in the U.S.

"The main goal for the reserve this year was to win the WRC," commented Coach Teeters, "And we did." He further commented that the squad had a big chore in following in the footsteps of the number two ranked Scots.

"These boys are going to make it in life," commented Coach Fuller. "After all the games are over, the trophies have been passed out and the glory has died away," he continued, "the Scots basketball team will be remembered for years to come."

Many things were done so that the Scots could accomplish their goal. Coach Teeters worked the team to top physical conditioning so that in the fourth quarter when all the opposition died, the Scots never faded but came back harder. With his pep talks, Coach Stecher provided the confidence to win the games. It took Mr. Fuller, Coach of the Year, to lead the Scots to a very successful season. Winning over Alexandria, Anderson, and Madison Heights in the Sectional; Carmel and Blackford in the Regional; and almost defeating Marion in the Semi-state, the Scots have much to be proud of.

This will be a basketball year that many Scots will never forget. The excitment, tears of joy, cries of ecstasy, and the wonder and awe of it all will forever be remembered in the hearts of the Scots.

Underclass Dribblers Boast Winning Seasons

Finishing undefeated, with a 14-0 season record, the seventh grade basketball team held up the tradition of winning at HHS. Defeating Northside with a double overtime in the final game of the city tourney, the young Scots were proclaimed the 1975-76 City Champions.

With one year's experience behind them the eighth grade Scots, captured their City Championship by defeating Madison Heights 62-54. This ended their almost-perfect season with a record of 16-1.

A bright future lies ahead for next year's reserve squad. Led by Keith Richie, leading rebounder and scorer, the Freshman Scots turned in an impressive 10-5 season record. Having only seven turnovers during play with Southside, in the first game of the City Championship, the Frosh Scots were unable to stop the drive of the Warriors during the last seconds of the game and ended with a final score of 48-51.

Young wrestlers make Regional

"I think we were a close knit group," said Jay Masters, "and I got to know a lot of the guys personally." Defeating three opponents gave Jay his first Sectional victory at Pendleton and he became the youngest man ever to win Sectional. Advancing to Regional Jay defeated two more opponents and received his first opportunity to go to the first Semi-State in Indianapolis. Jay did go on to lose in the first match, however, Jay set a new season record at the 132 pound weight class with nine wins, one loss, and one tie. He was also awarded Honorary Captain.

The teams effort came to a 7-4-1 record for the season. Coach Ruby stated that it was the youngest team that he had ever coached. The wrestlers received second place in the Sectional and five men qualified for Regional: Carlo Corzine, Mike Gillis, Jay Masters, Tony Warfel, and John Wiley. John Wiley was also awarded "Most Valuable Wrestler."

Girls gymnastics; mostly beginners

"Most girls were beginners this year. The beginning team did extremely well considering they were all freshmen competing against sophomores and juniors," commented Coach Jeannie Blubaugh. "They had a winning season and did really well," she continued.

Outstanding gymnasts were: Kelly Williams, freshman, Most Valuable Beginning Gymnast who also advanced to regional and placed seventh in all around competition; Tracie Sloan, senior, Most Valuable Intermediate Gymnast; and, Kathy Brown, senior, Most Valuable Optional Gymnast.

"This was the first year the optional really had a team. With a 7-3 season they did very well. The intermediate team had good individuals, but not a lot of team strength," stated Coach Blubaugh.

Most Valuable Gymnast for the boys gymnastics team was David Lamborne, junior, and HHS's only all-around gymnast including trampoline. Senior Dick Kerr won the team captain award.

"The total season made a 300 percent improvement over last year," stated Coach Brian Hildebrand. "As far as placement in the sectional, we had two different winners who won in two different events. It was a very successful season for us this year," he concluded.

Frosh girls, city champs

"Just a lot of guts!" replied Miss Jeanne Blubaugh, Girl's Varsity Track coach when asked what made a good track athlete. It was obvious that the girl's track teams had more than their share of guts as all teams went beyond their goals.

'76 was the first and last year for a Girl's Jr. High Track Team. The team had a record of 1-3 as the result of defeating Madison Heights, but falling to East Side, North Side, and South Side. Outstanding individuals were Beth Bryant and Lori Elsworth for high jump and shot put, as well as runners Linda Gray and Kim Volk.

"We're city champs," stated Mrs. Vicky Bennett, coach of the Girl's 9th Grade Track Team when asked about the team's success. "If they keep up the tremendous work, they will have an outstanding track team for the next three years."

"Mission—sectional" was achieved by the Girl's Varsity Track Team as they ranked 8th among 20 teams. Competing in the sectional were Tracy Westerman, 6th in the 220 and 100, plus a 440 relay team that received a 3rd.

Added to the list of girl's sports was girl's basketball. Both team coaches Mrs. Bennett, varsity, and Miss Blubaugh, Jr. High, considered the season excellent. Coach Bennett went on to say, "The girls did really well for being inexperienced."

Rev records established

Huffing and puffing their way to a 30-3 record in the regular season, a second placing at the White River Conference, an Elwood Inv. 1st, and Pendleton Inv. 2nd, the Men's Varsity Track Team set the best school record in the history of HHS. Headed by co-captains Bill Duquaine and Marty Swafford, the team set numerous records in '76. Record setters were Dick Kerr in discus, Brian Sanders in the 440 relay, Marty Swafford in the 2 mile, David Watkins in the mile, and Dave Poole in the high jump and the long jump. Poole, winning the sectional, placing second in the regional and advancing to state, was also awarded as Most Valuable Player.

"Great!" replied 9th grade track coach Doug Holder in regards of the success of the 9th Grade Track Team. "We're city champs as well as White River Conference winners." Outstanding athletes of the frosh team were Phil Hughes in the 220 and 440, Jim Hickman in the mile, and Steve Brodie accumulated the most total points.

Not as strong as last year, the Jr. High Track Team encountered grade ineligibility and knee problems, dampening team spirit. With a 1-4 record in the regular season, the team finished 2nd in the Noblesville Inv. and 5th in the city. Individual athletes made topnotch performances resulting in two city champions. State class competitors were Don Kuchler in pole vault, and Joe Fisher in the high jump.

Junior High golfers highlighted the season with a first place finish in the Jr. High tourney. Coach Harrison believes in the future of Highland through their 10-2 season by Gary Delph, tourney medalist, Craig Carlson, and Norm Delph. School records were set by the team, 260, and an individual Gary Delph, 61, both done in the Madison County Jr. High Invitational.

The reserve boys golf team enjoyed a very successful season. Going into the last week of the season they stoood 8-2. Many of these golfers also spent time on varsity.

Coach John Maryan's Highland High School boy's varsity linksters showed great improvement over the previous season. Each golfer lowered his average. The highlight of the season was a third place finish in the WRC; Bruce Cook and Jay Johnson made the All-Conference team. A third place finish in the Monroe Central Inv. was another fine example of the capabilities of the '76 team. Captain Bruce Cook, Chuck Carlson, and Mark Wylam were the mainstays of the team, but help from Jay Johnson, Randy Wilson, Chris Richardson, and Bruce Wylam were present. A 311 on Yule Golf Course against Alexandria was the team's low, one stroke off the school record.

The girls golf team set two school records for the first time in HHS's golf history. Maria Hysong set an individual record of 48 in 9 holes and a 220 school record was set at the sectional by Teresa Bickel, Martha Egger, Anne Eliason, and Maria Hysong.

"I'm very pleased, the team worked hard and they are improving continually," commented Coach Maryan. The Lassies had another winless season but placed seventh out of ten in the sectional play-offs.

Smash! It's a Home Run

Nine wins in a row

The 1976 Highland Scots' baseball team went into the opening day, of the I.H.S.A.A. Anderson baseball sectional on Memorial Day with a 11-6-1 record. At the beginning of the season Coach Bob Stecher said this team can be as good as they want. After the first seven games, however, they were 1-5-1 a not-so-good start considering they were 7-0 the previous season. After the first seven games the team decided to put it together and followed with nine straight victories.

Balance seemed to be the key to the Scots success. Among this year's team was plenty of talent. The team was very powerful and explosive. An unusual 17 home runs were hit during the season.

Coach Jim Teeters and Coach Bob Fuller were faced with a young reserve team; most were freshmen and sophomores. This year's reserve showed poise and talent in their games, of 9 coming from behind, to win. The reserve team formed a good ground for varsity baseball at Highland in the future. The reserve team finished 6-3.

HHS organizations pursue interests

Initiations ... parties ... banquets ... meetings ... and officer elections were all part of Highland's clubs and organizations. Students who found time after school pursued their individual interests in HHS extra-curricular organizations. But, just belonging didn't satisfy most Highlanders as they held ambitions to be the best, whether it meant being president or winning statewide contests.

Consuming extra-time was not the only objective of organizations though, as each scheduled event sometimes seemed to take priority over the academics. Dramatic and musical productions, publication deadlines, induction into Honor Society, and pep sessions exhausted time usually used for classwork, while fieldtrips dismissed students from school. Sponsors, and teachers discussed the conflicts and classwork was made up by students, which showed that Highland's teachers, organization sponsors, and students continued to ... Catch the Spirit.

Council's plans feature revision

Beginning with the thoughts of a booming year, Student Council's social plans came to a sudden slowdown with all dances temporarily cancelled by the HHS Activities Committee on Oct. 13, 1975. After the temporary cancellation for the '75-76 dances, Student Council began a student apathy project to encourage student involvement. Over 700 buttons were distributed with the inscription, "I Care About Highland." Student Council President, Kathy Brown, termed the project a success.

An annual service activity which Council participated in was the HHS Open House held on Nov. 17. Council helped by distributing programs, ushering patrons to various rooms, and serving refreshments for the twelfth year in a row. Council also participated in organizations such as the Inner-City Youth Council (for the youth of Anderson), March of Dimes and Muscular Dystrophy.

The "governmental" status of council seemed to vary from year to year depending upon the needs and initiative of students as well as the philosophy of the administration. This past year, Council's major "governmental" task was a renewed emphasis on student activities and organizations.

Assembly hosts post office #3

As the '75-76 year began Student Assembly (due to lack of attendance), had trouble getting started. Adjustments were made, with Mrs. Mikella Davis assuming the major responsibility as sponsor, and Bruce Cook reigning as president. The year was then underway with activities for the year being planned.

The major activities for the '75-76 HHS Student Assembly were the annual penny post offices which they have sponsored for three years. The penny post office provided delivery services for cards, and packages to lucky recipients in the homerooms. Also, Student Assembly sold carnations for distribution from the Valentine penny post office.

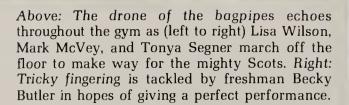

The original responsibility for Assembly was to analyze student needs and present them before the group in an effort to improve communications. According to the sponsor and various members, interest in Assembly's major purpose had diminished over the last few years, therefore causing a lack in response to this form of communication.

Below: Exact precision is executed by the marching band as they spell out "Scots" to the tune of "Scotland the Brave." Right: Examining the rhythm, junior Mark Volk studies the next piece to be played at jazz band rehearsal.

Band members prepare for Canadian tour

"Practice was once again the key word in the band department. Practicing not only involved the individual work by each person, but the many hours the band spent correcting problems confronting the whole unit.

The Marching Band spent many autumn evenings in the cold, and sometimes the dark, memorizing music, routines and choreography that went into each of the four varsity football halftime shows presented by the band.

Boosting team and school spirit was the objective of the Traveling Pep Band and Pep Band. The members of the traveling pep band faithfully followed the football team to help raise spirit among Highland fans. The pep band attended all home varsity basketball games and pep sessions. Besides backing the team to victory, the pep band provided music for pre-game and halftime shows presented by the majorettes.

Toward the end of the school year excited looks of anticipation could be noted on the faces of many band members. Instrumentalists, majorettes and bagpipers all began to look forward to summer vacation and the Canadian trip planned for August.

Busy year for Singers & choirs

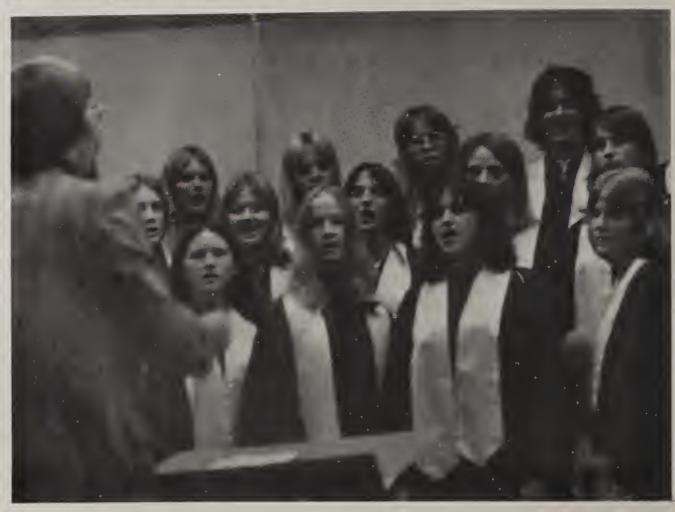

As in previous years, the HHS Choral Department scheduled a busy year. The fall season opened with a Singers performance at the traditional HHS Open House. The Junior High Fall Concert production was one in which Concert Choir, Mixed Chorus, and the Junior High Choirs exhibited their talents. Concert Choir also participated in the touring of elementary schools and a few convalescent homes.

Besides the performance at the Open House, the Highland Singers participated in many social gatherings. Starting in the fall and continuing through the seasons the Singers performed at such places as the Sheraton Inn, Anderson College, and Mounds Mall.

The Choral Department also sponsored the annual Musicale which was held on May 6 & 7. The production of musicale consisted of skits, songs and performances by the Highland Singers, Concert Choir, and members of Mixed Chorus that wished to participate.

Mixed Chorus; future sighted

In preparation for possible membership in the Highland Singers or Concert Choir, the Mixed Chorus consisting of mainly freshmen and sophomores advanced their musical capabilities. The main performance of Mixed Chorus was the Junior High Fall Concert held on March 18 in the HHS gym. This concert featured Mixed Chorus, Junior High Choirs, and Concert Choir. In the spring of '76 Mixed Chorus members also had the opportunity to try out for Highland Singers by singing acapella or with an accompanist.

The finale of the year for Mixed Chorus was its performance in the Musicale. Members participated in the production on a voluntary basis.

Left: Only a short rest. During a spring performance Concert Choir members wait in anticipation for the next note. Below: Now is the time. As Sophomore, Tammy Smith prepares herself for singer tryouts Mrs. Greene plays along.

Musicians learn 'the basics'

"Learning the basics" was the main goal of the Junior High Band and Choir in '76. The basics encountered by the young musicians included how to sight read, interpret the music with the correct style, as well as hitting the right notes. "We try to give them some idea of what they need before they become high school musicians," stated Mr. Randy Greene, HHS choral director.

Singing their way into the hearts of many, the Junior High Choir was kept busy with nearly five concerts, plus their own talent show held in class.

Not to be caught sitting still, the Junior High Band and Majorettes did their own thing at a junior high basketball game. The young instrumentalists played as the junior high majorettes joined in with a pre-game and halftime show.

Honor Society inducts sixteen; Bowl Team, Forensics compete

Functioning as a completely honorary organization, Honor Society was limited to three major events.

The annual tapping, held on October 28, found four seniors and twelve juniors with a chance for official membership. After completing the required theme and taking part in the candlelight induction ceremony, the sixteen Highlanders became the newest members of the Ben Nevis Chapter of National Honor Society.

The traditional year-end banquet was held April 22 at the Richwood House. Reading senior wills and announcing next year's officers highlighted the evening.

Highland's Bowl Team completed their most successful season under sponsors Mr. James Beane and Miss Linda Trout. The team members struggled to answer math, science, social studies, and fine arts questions to raise their score. The team came out on top in all but four meets.

Sam Hasler set and then reset the school record by scoring 270 points in one meet.

Under the direction of Mrs. Stephanie Brammer, the Forensics Team competed in speaking contests throughout Indiana. Members participated in many different events including poetry interpretation, impromtu, dramatic duo, and many others.

Besides battling with words, the Forensics Team participated in the HHS Fall Festival with profit-making success. A Christmas party for the team was held at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Brammer.

Theatre Guild campaigns

Swinging into the action with a high note, Theatre Guild launched a "Support Your High School Theatre" campaign. The halls were filled with members of the club selling bumper stickers for 50 cents, or a complete patron membership for $5. Each patron member received a ticket to the fall and spring play, a bumper sticker, their names printed in the play programs, as well as free admission to dramatic presentations throughout the year.

Under the direction of Mr. Ron Clark, both the fall play production "Scapino," and spring play "Ghost Dance," entertained sell-out audiences.

Thespian inductions were held on May 5, at 7 p.m. in the Edwards Room of the Anderson College Student Center. The HHS Thespian Troupe, No. 3088, welcomed a total of nine new faces.

V.I.C.A. competes in olympics

Ready to test their skills and knowledge, six V.I.C.A. members traveled to Indianapolis on Saturday, May 8, to compete in the Indiana Skill Olympics. Lisa Doughty won first place in "Job Interview" and a third in "Extemporaneous Speaking." Other award winners were Kathy Brown, second in the "Nurse Aid Contest," Divina Westerfield second in "Essay," Bruce Cook second in the "Paul Revere Contest," and Jan Crouse, third in "Dental Assisting."

Traveling to Washington D.C. on Oct. 25, Divina Westerfield, State Reporter, and Lisa Doughty, State Treasurer, attended the National V.I.C.A. Leadership Conference. Activities included personally touring the White House with officials, attending the official welcome of President Sadat, and meeting with political figures such as Congressman Bud Hillis.

FFA, FHA experience busy year

On the second Wednesday of each month the thirty-one members of FHA met to discuss dates for planned activities.

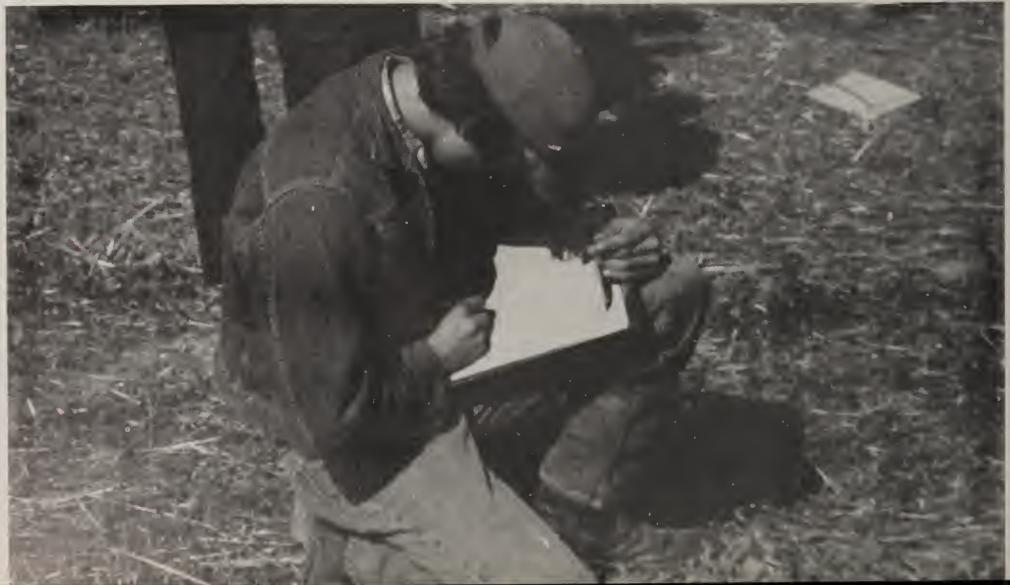

The FHA activities varied throughout the year. Beginning with the dart throw for baked "goodies," at the Fall Festival, FHAers continued through the year with a bowling and pizza party held Nov. 17, and a skating party at Alexandria on Feb. 18. Highland's future homemakers also held their installation of new members in a candlelight ceremony on Dec. 17, at the YWCA. The installation was combined with their Christmas banquet.

Members of Highland's chapter of the Future Farmers of America remained active through the school year. Participating in judging events in hopes of preparing themselves for further work in agriculture was the main activity of the FFA members. The FFA team repeated their last year showing by placing second overall in the County Soils Judging Contest. Sam Mann, sophomore, set an individual mark for the school and himself by placing fifth in Forestry and Horticulture. The members also competed in livestock, poultry, dairy dairy, and entomology events throughout the year.

Besides participating in the judging events, the FFA members sold seeds during the winter and attended a tractor pull on Jan. 31.

Journalists press to meet deadlines

Bicentennial '76 was a traditional year of headache and triumph for HHS journalists. Overdue deadlines, conflicts between staff reporters and photographers, as well as difficulties in budgeting, were traditional in the loft.

"Change" was a key word for "Tartan," the monthly general news magazine. Published by HHS students, the "Tartan" was printed and distributed once each month instead of every two weeks as in previous years. With approximately 12 staffers, "Tartan" was also supported by first-year journalism students who aided with their story assignments in the newswriting class.

Not to be done-in by overbearing complications, yearbook staffers conquered many technical barriers. It was not unusual to see "Reeder's raiders" in the loft during the early morning hours before school to complete unfinished deadlines. A journey to the printing plant in Missouri was also in store for the album staff in an effort to solve photographic errors before publication of the yearbook.

To ensure a prompt delivery date, and to avoid complications encountered by last year's staff, "Echoes" staffers were chosen and committees formed at the beginning of the year. "Echoes," a literary magazine published by HHS students, contain poems, essays, and short stories—some of which were English class assignments.

Photographers found themselves out of the darkroom, attending various activities taking pictures and supplying the various publications with prints ... prints ... prints and more prints ... over 2,000 in fact.

Quill and Scroll, an honor group for high school journalists, inducted new members at the All-Publications Banquet on May 18 at the Holiday Inn. For the sixth year in a row, the five staffs and journalism classes met in a combined effort to reward one another for individual effort and accomplishment—making sweat and tears apparently all worthwhile.

The year wasn't all frustration and headache as the young journalists also gathered themselves together for a trip to Ball State on April 30, to attend the annual Journalism Day Conference.

News adds penny press

"May I have your attention for morning announcements, please!" which traditionally echoed over the loud speaker, was virtually eliminated except for periodic administrative directives. As a result of efforts put forth by the HHS News Bureau, announcements took on a new face. The "new face" was commonly referred to as the news sheet.

The "sheet" was distributed to all classes during the fourth hour; and students desiring their own copy of the announcements and daily news could purchase them for a penny a page. The penny press was a salute to the Bicentennial when news papers originally cost one penny. When asked how he felt about the success of the news sheet, Mr. Robert Reeder, publications advisor exclaimed, "I'm tickled pink!"

Other tasks of the News Bureau included underclass picture sales, informing local news media of Highland happenings, along with "Varsity Special," "Echoes," and "Tartan" sales.

Spirit Sparkers again provide spirit for HHS!

Again providing the spirit spark for HHS was the PEP CLUB, H-CLUB, AND CHEERLEADERS.

During the 1975 summer cheerleading camp, cheerleading honors were limited but very high. Beth Hollon, Varsity cheerleading captain received Miss Teenager Cheerleader USA which was one of the highest honors in the USCA that a cheerleader could receive.

Throughout the '75-'76 year the cheer-leaders practiced an average of ten hours per week, according to Mrs. Davis, the new sponsor, replacing Mrs. Julie Jacobs who took over dean of girls. Besides boosting the team through each season the cheerleaders participated in the fall festival by hosting the pre-festival soc-hop in the multi-purpose room, and holding a cake walk in the north end of the east hall. Tpey also sold candles displaying Christmas scenes during the holdiay season.

Also a new sponsor, Mrs. Stephanie

Brammer, replaced former sponsor Mrs. Mikella Davis of the 132 member HHS Pep Club. Carrying through their yearly duty to support the HHS athletic teams, the Pep Club sold buttons with a picture of the team and cheerleaders on it; along with decals representing HHS with an emblem of the Mascot on them.

At the beginning of the year H-Club sold advertising space in the varsity basket-ball and football programs enabling them to finance the programs printed for each home game for the third year in a row. A new and unique winner in H-Club was senior, Vicki Stanley. Vicki received the black jacket this year which is awarded to anyone earning eight varsity letters. Vicki was the first girl to receive a black jacket, earning it through four years of volleyball, three years of track, and one year of gymnastics.

Above: Vicki Stanley turns to all smiles as Mr. Boyer HHS Athletic Director congratulates her on being the first girl to receive the H-Club Black Jacket.

hallo, hola, bonjour, hello

Foreign exchange students Tom Siggelow, Gloria Matavargis, and Kathy Konopa said Hello to their new families in one of three different languages: German, Spanish, or French.

Leaving for Belgium in the summer of '75 between her junior and senior year at Highland, Kathy Konopa spent six months on an exchange program sponsored by the International Fellowship Agency. Much of her time was spent learning to dance to the 50's rock music, waltz and the tango. Kathy also spent some time as a cook in a Boy Scout Camp, and visiting different countries and towns. She also went as a guest to official activities with the mayor of Tilff, Belgium.

Tom Siggelow and Gloria Matavargis, on the other hand arrived in Indiana in August of '75, with the help of the Youth for Understanding Program, and the International Fellowship Agency, respectively as sponsors. Tom and Gloria stayed in Indiana for approximately one year.

Much of Tom Siggelow's time was spent discovering American favorites such as study hall, chocolate cake and girls. Tom also played soccer at the Indianapolis soccer Club, which was one of his favorite sports.

Gloria Matavargis spent her time building her hobbies of collecting stamps, post cards, and coins. She did much conversing with people from other places in Indiana, as it was one of her favorite things to do.

Both Gloria and Tom received their welcome as guests of honor at a reception held on October 1, in the home economics room with faculty and students invited.

Fehrmann fills job as sponsor

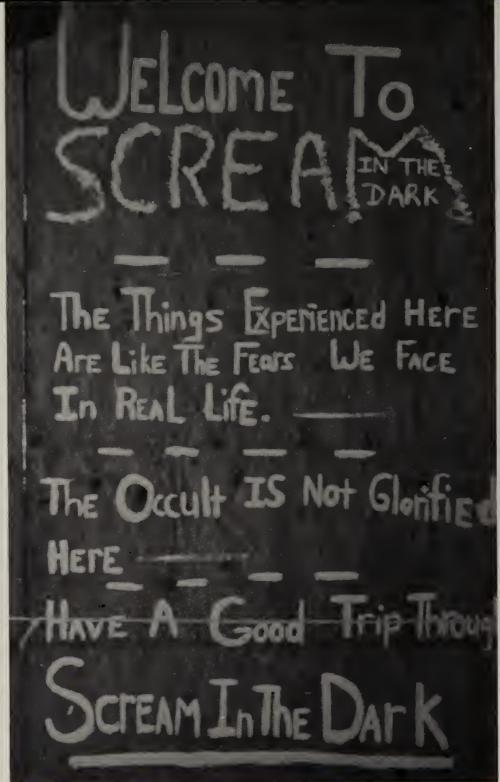

After twenty years of teaching Latin and sponsoring Latin Club at HHS, Mrs. Dorothy Parker ended her career as a teacher at the end of the 74-75 school year. At the beginning of the 75-76 year Miss Judy Fehrmann filled the vacancy as HHS Latin Club sponsor. Miss Fehrmann had been Latin Club sponsor twice prior to this year, once in Jennings County and once in Danville, Illinois. She had taught Latin for 10 years upon her arrival at HHS.

The main project on the agenda for Latin Club was the traditional Latin Club banquet held in Nov. at the home of Latin Club member Doug Willmann, with the attire being everyday clothing. Also the Roman banquet, in which they were dressed in the Roman fashion, was held in May.

Other Projects throughout the 75-76 year included two other parties, one held for Halloween, and one for Christmas, both being held in the homes of Latin Club members. Then, during the week before Christmas vacation the Latin students sponsored a food drive for the second consecutive year by collecting cans of food from HHS students to give to needy families.

Insight provided by Campus Life

Campus Life began another active year for Highland students with alternating regular and insight meetings at its members homes. At the regular meetings, members played games and expressed their feelings, discussed their gripes, and gave their opinions on that night's topic. The insight meetings gave the "Youth for Christ" members a chance to gain more personal understanding of themselves and Christ.

Besides the meetings, Campus Life included special events. First on the agenda of these events was the annual "Burger Bash," held at the home of John and Elaine Pichler. Then, working jointly with the Campus Life groups from Anderson and Madison Heights, the "Scream in the Dark" spook house was created which provided terrifying fun for the people that passed through the door.

Madison County J.A. chosen number one

Macrame jewelry, a printing service, and Bicentennial coin plaques are examples of the products and services produced by Junior Achievement companies. Working two hours a week, 520 achievers from Highland and seven other county schools learned how to run a business in the free enterprise system.

From September to May, J.A. members became businessmen and women. They sold stock, set up management, kept books, and manufactured products. The J.A. members tested their salesmanship at the annual J.A. Trade Fair held January 23, 24, and 25, at the Mounds Mall. When May arrived, the year ended and companies liquidated.

The twenty-three J.A. companies were sponsored by twelve area businesses and received advice from ninety-seven adult volunteers. The Madison County Junior Achievement was named the number one J.A. group in the country in the 100,000 to 250,000 population areas. The J.A. group was judged on program growth, program quality, financial stability, public relations, internal operations, and outstanding achievements.

Millions of "Dollars" passed through the hands of Andersonians as well as Highlanders in a year. Dollars were earned, spent, and saved by Highlanders for many reasons, and obtained in various ways.

Highlanders held part-time jobs which they either found themselves or obtained through work-programs offered at Highland. Highlanders spent their "Dollars" for dating, clothes, tickets for games or plays; and some who were budget minded put it away for college or a rainy day, by using the local Credit Unions or Savings and Loans.

Layoffs, which were common in the Spring of 1975, were not as frequent in 1976 which earned a sigh of relief from the many Highlanders whose fathers work for General Motors. Highlanders were not the only people sighing though, as Anderson's Business Community which relys heavily on General Motors felt the callbacks as more money was passing through their businesses. Highlanders joined Anderson's Business Community in "Catching the Spirit". A spirit that spread all through Anderson not just in Highland.

Above: Money is money! Although sweeping the floor may not be a very prestigious job, Toby Tooley can claim a job which is more than some Highlanders can since part-time job availability is limited in Anderson. Right: A pain in the wallet; but a boost to the spirit as Highlanders began purchasing Regional tickets on March 8. Jeff Pyles checks out where he will be sitting in the wigwam for the upcoming games.

Left: Fifty-nine, sixty. No matter how students feel about school food, dollars go farther in the cafeteria. Randy Cornwell takes advantage of the ala-carte line to pick up what he prefers for lunch. Spend Some SAVE Some

I just had an interesting talk with Mrs. Helen Figel, secretary-treasurer of Independent Credit Union, about saving money.

Mrs. Figel told me that hundreds of Delco-Remy employees made regular deposits in ICU savings accounts and were actually members of the credit union. (Imagine being a shareholder in a financial institution while you're still going to school.)

Most of the kids, she said, were saving for a car or education. The reason they're saving at the Credit Union is that ICU pays a 6% dividend on their money, compounded quarterly. This means that if you deposit $100 and leave it in for a year, you end up with $106.14. Your dad or mom will get 500 S & H Green Stamps for your membership, and so will you. You also get free life insurance on any savings account up to $2000.

Where can you get such a cool savings deal for a 25 cent membership fee? Ask vour Delco-Remy dad or mom about it today.

Sincerely,

Jima Kelly

SPIRIT: WE CAUCHT IT;

WE'KE KEEP IT!

Far left: Now what? Custodial matron, Mrs. Vaughn, eyes another mess made by students to clean up. Left: It's rough to lose. Cheryl and Wendy Fuller find out how hard it is to lose in Semi-state competition, especially when the head of the family is the head coach.

Changes made, Tradition preserved

Looking back on Highland's 1975-76 school year brings back fond memories that even time cannot erase. Times of fun ... hardships ... studies ... and work are brought back to mind as Highland's 21st year brought changes that were both expected and not expected.

Highlanders anxiously watched the new building addition come to life as it neared completion while faculty members scurried to put in their "bid" for space left vacant by the classes moving into the addition. Personnel changes were also made, as preparations for the 1975-76 year continued, Redistricting as a result of the new 6-2-4 plan would bring students across town to attend Highland in a limited bussing program. The school board also chose not to renew the contracts of Principal, Mr. Mulford Davis, and Assistant Principal, Mr. Allen Meyerrose.

The class of '76 made their own changes, also, as they decided the football field would accomodate graduation exercises with a Bicentennial theme.

Extended vacations and unplanned

"days off" popped up at various times throughout the year. Broken water mains, bad sewer lines, and the "traditional" snow days gave Highlanders time to catch up with studies, the soap operas, or work around the house.

With all the changes made at Highland some alumni of HHS might wonder and worry where all of the tradition is that Highland is so well known for, Well, it's still here! The kilt is still the attire of the band; Scotland the Brave remains as the official school song; and we are still known as the Highlanders. But most of all, the spirit, hardwork, and dedication that Highlanders have always possessed is still evident which shows that we have "Caught the Spirit" and will keep it!

Below: Getting his thoughts together in the loft before discussing a yearbook problem, Adrian Richie ponders on which alternative to take. Right: Never letting his spirit dwindle, Senior Bruce Lehman cheers on the team at the Fort Wayne Semi-state Tourney game against Marion. The Scots saw their first defeat though, and the Above right: Spirit comes in many forms including the "Spirit Mobile" with the pushing power coming from Rick Whitehead and Bob Taylor. The 1976 Highlander was printed by Herff Jones in Marceline, Missouri. Melior with italics was used for captions and Caledonia with italics was used for body copy. All idents were in Optima Medium and headlines were in Century Expanded. One exception to this was the business staffs use of Bodoni Bold. The book was printed on Calais paper and bound with a vista custom cover. I extend a sincere thank-you to all the people who helped capture the 1976 school year in the Highlander.
